

I filmed this footage back in June and finally got around to editing it, just in time for the competition. I loved the feel and emotion that is portrayed from this video. I really wanted to give a natural feel and look. The also really love the color throughout the video, and the sun rays that really added to the beauty of the video. Overall, this was an extremely fun project that I enjoyed creating.