

This idea came after finishing a project for my COMM 305 class. I spent 6 hours finishing it and to relax I immediately opened another file and started to do my own stuff. I'm Brazilian and everywhere I go people ask me how to make our food. Some people say there should be a Brazilian restaurant here in Rexburg. Along with that, I had recently eaten coxinhas, one of our famous hors d'oeuvres. I just started drawing the snacks I like the most and wanted to make a collection of them, just as I did the icons project for my class. The idea of putting everything together in a menu came after that.

Ta Da!!!!

Gabby's

PAO DE QUEIJO

cheese bread made with tapioca flour,
gluten free

PASTEL

deep fried thin dough, filled with ground beef.

COXINHA

deep fried rich dough, filled with shredded chicken

BRIGADEIRO

Brazilian version of a fudge, softer and covered in sprinkles.

PUDIM

Brazilian version of flan, contain eggs and milk.

I definitely got more contrast and the text is easier to read with bigger and bolder font. My favorite images were the pastel and the pudim. I'm happy with that and confident that I could offer my work to the people that make Brazilian food to sell.
